OFFICIAL INTERNATIONAL DIPLOMATIC DECLARATION

(For Submission to the United Nations & UN Member States)

INTERNATIONAL DECLARATION FOR THE RECOGNITION AND PROTECTION OF THE PEACE, DIGNITY, AND CONTINUITY OF ALL LIVING AND NON-LIVING BEINGS

Submitted under Article 51(c) of the Constitution of India

Through,
His Excellency,
The President of the Republic of India,
Rashtrapati Bhavan, New Delhi-110004.

FOR TRANSMISSION TO:

- The United Nations
- United Nations Organs & Specialized Agencies
- United Nations Member States
- National Parliaments of UN Member States

ISSUED BY:

Vishwa Shanti Janata Party (VSJP) A Fully Digital, Transnational, Non-Violent Political & Moral Movement Dedicated exclusively to Aram (Righteousness), Peace, Inter-Species Justice, and Planetary Continuity.

PREAMBLE

Human civilization stands at a decisive moral threshold. For centuries, humanity has designed laws, institutions, and governance systems exclusively centered on human comfort, power, and survival, often at the cost of other living beings and the natural world itself.

Across nations, legal systems have evolved primarily to protect:

- Human interests alone
- Human consumption patterns
- Human political and economic dominance

Meanwhile, voiceless beings — animals, birds, insects, forests, rivers, oceans, ecosystems, and even non-living natural systems — remain largely unrepresented, unprotected, and unheard within formal legal, constitutional, and diplomatic frameworks.

This imbalance has produced catastrophic consequences, including:

- Persistent armed conflicts and civilian casualties
- Institutionalized violence and weapon-based economies
- Accelerating ecological destruction and species extinction
- Chronic hunger amid global abundance
- Moral erosion presented as development

Every single day, life is permanently erased from this planet, with humanity being directly or indirectly responsible.

This declaration arises not from opposition to humanity, but from moral responsibility toward all existence.

PHILOSOPHICAL FOUNDATION

VSJP affirms a universal truth rooted in Aram (Righteousness):

No being is superior.

No being is inferior.

There is no hierarchy in the soul.

In our moral vision:

- A human life and an ant's life hold equal intrinsic dignity
- Living and non-living beings are interdependent
- The Earth does not belong to humanity alone
- Humanity is a participant, not the master, of creation

We categorically reject all forms of division — race, caste, religion, nationality, gender, species, or power.

STATEMENT OF GLOBAL FAILURE

Despite decades of international treaties, conventions, and institutions, the contemporary world faces unprecedented levels of:

- Armed violence and terrorism
- Religious and ideological extremism
- Escalating weapons production and deployment
- Environmental degradation and climate instability
- Systematic violence against animals and ecosystems
- Food systems that normalize the killing of other beings

Official data published by United Nations bodies, WHO, FAO, UNEP, and allied international agencies consistently confirm that existing mechanisms have failed to secure lasting peace or protect life in its totality. Peace has become militarized. Law has remained human-centric. Compassion has been structurally marginalized.

LEGAL & CONSTITUTIONAL BASIS

This declaration is fully aligned with and submitted under:

- Article 51(c), Constitution of India
- UN Charter Articles 1, 2, 55, 56, and 103
- Universal Declaration of Human Rights
- International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights (Right to Life)
- UN General Assembly Resolution 2625 (Friendly Relations)
- UN General Assembly Resolution 53/243 (Culture of Peace)
- International Environmental, Biodiversity, and One-Health Frameworks

This declaration does not contradict international law. It seeks to ethically complete and strengthen it.

INTERNATIONAL PRECEDENT & LEGAL CONSISTENCY

The United Nations system already recognizes and accommodates non-state and non-sovereign entities in various permanent or semi-permanent roles, including but not limited to:

- European Union – Permanent observer
- African Union – Recognized intergovernmental bloc
- International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) – Permanent humanitarian role
- ECOSOC-accredited NGOs – Consultative status
- Observer States and Observer Entities

The inclusion of a non-violent, life-centric, civilizational entity as a permanent peace observer is therefore consistent with established UN practice and international precedent.

FORMAL GLOBAL REQUEST

We respectfully and formally request the United Nations and its Member States:

1. United Nations Recognition To recognize the necessity of a life-centric, inter-species, and civilizational peace framework within the UN system.

2. Permanent VSJP Peace Observer Status To establish permanent VSJP Peace Ambassadors who shall be:

- Non-political
- Non-interventionist
- Fully compliant with the sovereignty and domestic laws of host nations

Their mandate shall be strictly limited to:

- Observation
- Documentation
- Ethical reporting
- Peace-based international referral through UN mechanisms

3. Parliamentary Observer Access To permit VSJP Peace Ambassadors to function as permanent registered observers in the parliaments of UN Member States, without voting rights, without lobbying, and without political participation.

4. Legal Reform Consideration To initiate structured discussions within appropriate UN bodies on legal reforms enabling representation for:

- Voiceless living beings
- Ecological systems
- Non-living natural entities

SCOPE LIMITATION & NON-POLITICAL ASSURANCE

VSJP solemnly and unequivocally declares:

- We seek no political power
- We seek no wealth or economic control
- We seek no territorial authority
- We seek no interference in domestic governance

VSJP Peace Ambassadors shall have:

- No voting power
- No veto authority
- No legislative or policy-making role

They shall function exclusively as ethical witnesses, observers, and record-keepers in service of peace.

IMPLEMENTATION PATH (NON-BINDING)

This proposal may be implemented through:

- A voluntary pilot framework
- Participation by consenting Member States
- Periodic review by relevant UN organs or committees
- Gradual refinement based on international consensus

CIVILIZATIONAL DECLARATION

We stand beyond nations, beyond divisions, beyond identity.

We exist solely for:

- Peace
- Aram (Righteousness)
- Dignity of all beings
- Continuity of life and non-life

Institutions that represent only human dominance cannot retain moral legitimacy in a shared planetary future.

Peace without Aram cannot endure.

CONCLUSION

This declaration is not against humanity.

It is for humanity's survival.

It is not against nations.

It is for the Earth that sustains all nations.

Let international law evolve from human-centered governance to life-centered justice.

“அறம் தான் உன்னையும் என்னையும் இணைத்தது.”

Aram alone unites all existence.

ANNEXURE – I

GLOBAL DATA ON VIOLENCE, CONFLICT, AND LOSS OF LIFE

(Indicative, Aggregate, and Non-Attributive)

The following data is referenced to demonstrate the scale of global violence and systemic failure of existing peace mechanisms. The data is indicative, aggregate in nature, and drawn from officially published international sources.

1. Armed Conflicts & Civilian Deaths

- According to United Nations and affiliated agencies, tens of thousands of civilians lose their lives annually due to armed conflicts, terrorism, and internal violence.
- A significant proportion of victims are women, children, and non-combatant populations.

2. Global Displacement & Refugees

- UN agencies report that over one hundred million people worldwide are forcibly displaced due to conflict, violence, persecution, and ecological collapse.

3. Weapon Production & Militarization

- International peace research institutions report continuous growth in global military expenditure, exceeding trillions of USD annually, diverting resources away from food security, health, and ecological protection.

4. Hunger Amid Abundance

- FAO and UN reports confirm that hundreds of millions of people experience chronic hunger and food insecurity, despite sufficient global food production.

5. Ecological Destruction & Species Loss

- UNEP and biodiversity frameworks warn of accelerating species extinction and irreversible ecosystem damage driven by human activity, armed conflict, and exploitative economic systems.

6. Structural Impact on Non-Human Life

- Animals and ecosystems are routinely affected by warfare, pollution, habitat destruction, and food systems, without formal representation or legal standing in international decision-making processes.

These officially documented realities collectively demonstrate the urgent need for a life-centric, non-violent, and inter-species peace framework within the United Nations system.

(This annexure is submitted for contextual and humanitarian reference only, without attribution of blame to any specific State or entity.)

ANNEXURE – II

LEGAL AND TREATY MAPPING

(International Law Alignment Matrix)

This annexure maps the principles contained in the “International Declaration for the Recognition and Protection of the Peace, Dignity, and Continuity of All Living and Non-Living Beings” to existing international legal instruments and treaty obligations.

1. United Nations Charter

- Article 1(1): Maintenance of international peace and security
- Article 1(3): Promotion of human rights and dignity
- Article 2: Peaceful relations and sovereign equality
- Articles 55 and 56: Collective international responsibility
- Article 103: Primacy of Charter obligations

The Declaration advances these principles by extending peace, dignity, and protection beyond human populations to all forms of life and ecological systems essential for global stability.

2. Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR)

- Article 1: Equality in dignity and rights
- Article 3: Right to life, liberty, and security
- Article 28: Right to a social and international order in which rights can be fully realized

The Declaration complements the UDHR by addressing systemic conditions that threaten the right to life through violence, ecological collapse, and food insecurity.

3. International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights (ICCPR)

- Article 6: Inherent right to life

The Declaration supports preventive peace frameworks as a necessary condition for the effective protection of life.

4. UN General Assembly Resolution 2625 (XXV)

- Declaration on Friendly Relations and Cooperation among States

The Declaration reinforces peaceful coexistence, non-violence, and international cooperation.

5. UN General Assembly Resolution 53/243

- Declaration and Programme of Action on a Culture of Peace

The Declaration operationalizes a culture of peace through ethical governance, inter-species justice, and non-violent global engagement.

6. International Environmental and Biodiversity Frameworks

- Convention on Biological Diversity (CBD)
- UNEP environmental governance principles

- One-Health and ecosystem-based approaches

The Declaration aligns with global commitments to ecological protection and inter-generational equity.

7. Customary International Law

- Peaceful coexistence
- Prevention of mass harm
- Collective responsibility

The Declaration reflects emerging norms recognizing the interdependence of peace, ecology, and life continuity.

This annexure demonstrates that the Declaration does not introduce conflicting obligations, but integrates and strengthens existing international law through a life-centric ethical framework.

ANNEXURE – III

ETHICAL AND CIVILIZATIONAL SOURCES

(Non-Religious, Universal Moral Foundations)

This annexure identifies ethical and civilizational sources that inform the moral foundation of the Declaration. These sources are cited for their universal ethical value and are not presented as religious doctrine.

1. Aram (Righteousness)

Aram represents moral duty, justice, compassion, and responsibility toward all beings. It emphasizes restraint, non-violence, and harmony between life and nature.

2. Ahimsa (Non-Violence)

The principle of non-violence affirms that peace cannot be achieved through harm, and that sustainable security arises from restraint, empathy, and coexistence.

3. Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam

“The World is One Family” expresses the ethical unity of humanity, nature, and all existence, forming the philosophical basis for global solidarity.

4. Classical Ethical Literature

Civilizational texts and ethical traditions from the Indian subcontinent and beyond, including Thirukkural, Bhagavad Gita Upanishadic ethics, and Sangam moral literature, consistently emphasize:

- Compassion
- Moral governance
- Protection of life
- Restraint of power

These principles are universal in nature and compatible with modern international law.

5. Inter-Species Ethics

The recognition that animals, ecosystems, and non-human life forms experience harm and require ethical consideration is increasingly reflected in international discourse, including environmental law and bioethics.

6. Moral Responsibility of Power

Civilizational ethics affirm that power exists to protect life, not to dominate or destroy it.

This annexure clarifies that the Declaration is grounded in universal ethical reasoning, not sectarian belief, and is compatible with the pluralistic, secular, and international character of the United Nations system.
